PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, APRIL 23, 1888.

MAYOR FITLER'S recommendation to Councils to appropriate $300,000 for the repaving of the streets occupied by passenger railway companies, should receive the earliest possible consideration. The condition of many of our most important thoroughfares is simply outrageous. The railway companies express very little interest and make very little effort to improve the pavement, and if any considerable work is done it can only be accomplished under some such proposition as the Mayor suggests. The Mayor's recommendation, if carried out, would make the city responsible for about one-half the cost of laying Belgian blocks. This would be the cheapest way in the end, for without some such combination the cobble stone will never be got rid of, for at the most and under the severest pressure the companies can never be made to do more than continue their everlasting patching.

ROOFERS have been frequently called upon to make repairs for leakages and other defects, which they feel to be unjust. They know that when they executed their work it was all right, and they blame the after-discovered defects to bad construction, which results frequently in the settling of walls. All walls settle, but it is not necessary that good roofing should thereby become bad roofing. Law suits have grown out of faulty construction, and owing to the stupidity and ignorance of lawyers, judges, and juries on such practical matters, wrong conclusions have been reached. Where roofs are to be heavy, special care should be taken by builders from the very start, as often defects creep even into designs, which do not show themselves until months after the completion of the building.

The First Annual Banquet of the Master Builders' Exchange, of Pittsburg, Pa., was held on the 12th inst. One hundred and sixty members of the Exchange, with a large number of invited guests, attended.

Letters were read from master builders in all parts of the country, regretting their inability to be present.

The officers of the Exchange are: President, George A. Cochrane; Vice-President, H. R. Barnes; Second Vice-President, J. F. Bruggeman; Secretary, E. A. Knox; Treasurer, I. J. Hamilton; Clerk, E. U. Baglin; Board of Directors, Joseph Shallenberger, Samuel Francis, Samuel Steele, Russ Lindsey, A. H. Lauman, J. F. Bruggeman, Henry Landgoff, A. L. Sheaffer, Xavier Whitmer, W. R. Stoughton, J. R. Reneick and George S. Fulmer.

The following very flattering testimonial, coming as it does from a builder of Mr. Kimball's experience, can be taken as a reliable guide for purchasers of mortar colors:

Philadelphia, Pa.

MESSRS. S. BOWEN'S SONS.

Gentlemen:—During the past ten years I have built many large and small houses, and have used your Mortar Stains to my entire satisfaction. The Black in particular has proved a great success, and where others have condemned Black as fugitive or not durable, I have been successful with it and nine-tenths of my work is laid in Pecora Black Mortar Stain, and stands to-day as a monument to the excellent quality of your product.

Your Mortar Stains will go much further, and more bricks can be laid with them than with any other in the market, as they do not set so quickly as other makes and you do not have to strike joints so often. I have tried other makes and consider none so durable, strong and as easily worked as Pecora Mortar Stains.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) WM. S. KIMBALL.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

At Wissahickon, the Baptist Church congregation has purchased a lot at Dawson and Terrace sts., on which they will build a handsome church.

The Grace Reformed Church has bought a lot south-west corner Eleventh and Huntingdon sts., Phila.

At Tacony, Dr. H. A. P. Neal will erect a handsome residence at the corner of Washington and Hegerman sts. John Enoch, sr., has contracted to build a frame cottage for Caspar Titus on Torresdale ave.

The Wissahickon Baptist Church has raised $9,000 for their new building, which will be erected on a recently purchased lot on Terrace street above Dawson, before mentioned.

At the building, South-east corner of Sixth and Market sts., occupied by Wanamaker and Brown, there will be an addition made, consisting of nine new bulk windows. Gillison Christie & Leckerbie, 1615 Catharine st., are to do the work.

The Shackamaxon Bank, at Frankford road and Norris streets, will be altered into a theatre by the owner, J. W. Hart, and will be leased for a term of six years to Jacobs & Hickey. The size will be 54x120 ft. It will contain a parquet, balcony and gallery.

Moore's Hotel, on Filbert street, near Thirtieth st., will have quite a large extension made to it. The lot on the east of the hotel will be the site of the addition, which will consist of a six-story building, with accommodations for one hundred and twenty guests. A hydraulic elevator will be substituted for the old one. Joseph Burd is the contractor. The same general style and finish of the old building will be continued.

John G. Ruff, 825 Filbert st., will begin the erection, about the middle of May, of six three-story dwelling houses on Forty-fourth st., north of Haverford ave., West Philadelphia. At the same time he will start five three-story dwellings, and four of two stories each, on the North side of Haverford ave., west from Forty-three-and-a-half st. The former will be 16x50 ft., and the latter 18x50 ft. and 14x40 ft.

On May 1st, Thomas Waters, contractor, 4825 Melrose st., Frankford, will commence two two-story dwellings on the South side of Tacony st., between Tucker and Margaretta sts., 16x42 ft. each. Also two on the South side of Cambridge, between Orthodox and Duncan sts., 16x40 ft., and one three-story brick store and dwelling house on the West side of Orthodox st., between Cambridge and Style sts., 16x64 feet.

Crumback & Davis have commenced the erection of four Queen Anne three-story brick, shingle and slate cottages at Bonnafon Station, on P. W. & B. Railroad, 27th Ward, West Philadelphia. These houses are located at about three minutes' walk from the station, and represent the beginning of an operation intended to cover some eight acres which this firm now owns at this point. The houses will be built, say from three to five at a time, in order that the greatest care may be exercised in their construction and in the selection of material. The location is high and healthy, and these houses, with lot 30x100 ft., at about $3,800 each, within twelve minutes' ride of Broad street station, present many features particularly advantageous to those seeking suburban homes. Mr. Davis, of this firm, is the Henry T. Davis having charge of the real estate and stock department of Davis & Harvey, auctioneers, 1212 Chestnut st.

Sealed proposals will be received until May the seventeenth, at the office of the Supervising Architect, at the Treasury Department, Washington, for the erection and completion of the post-office at Reading, Pa. The plans and specifications may be seen at the Master Builders' Exchange.

The Philadelphia Art Club will spend about $50,000 in making extensive alterations and additions to their building, Broad and Locust streets, which has now a frontage of 42 feet on Broad street, and runs back to a depth 67 feet. It is proposed, and plans are now under way for the extension of the building so as to cover the entire lot which is 64 feet front, and 116 feet deep. A handsome entrance will be made at Broad and Brighton streets, which will serve as a gallery for sculpture. This part of the building will be two stories high. At the rear end of the lot adjoining the present building, will be built a picture gallery 48x67 feet, which will be on the second floor, beneath which will be the cafe and restaurant. It is the intention of the members to make this club one of the handsomest and best appointed organizations in the country.

Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, APRIL 30, 1888.

The Fire Insurance interests are in the dark. Losses are increasing and there is no remedy against the consequent losses. A radical reform is needed. France is pointed to as a country without fires, and its peculiar insurance legislation is sometimes quoted as worthy of imitation. February losses in the United States and Canada were $11,213,500. The average February loss during the past twelve years was $7,140,000, or $4,000,000, in round figures, below the loss for last month.

The papers have repeated a statement, said to have been made at the Cincinnati Convention of Builders, that there are 16,000,000 mechanics in the United States, and that out of these only 500,000 are Americans. The figures should read 6,000,000. No doubt the latter portion of the quotation is correct, viz., that only one in twelve of these is an American. Builders and employers generally believe there would be fewer strikes, less labor agitation and unrest, and greater harmony, if there were a greater percentage of Americans following the avocation of mechanics. This is doubtless true. The reason of so much agitation by foreigners in this country, where the bulk of them live like lords in comparison to their previous condition, is, that the slavery to which they and their fathers have been subjected for ages almost, has created a desire, now that they have been industrially liberated, to render future oppression impossible. Time, education and observation only will remove the senseless fear that leads men into aggressive organization.

But what is being done to increase the American contingents to our mechanical trades? The Cincinnati Convention recommended the adoption of a sensible system to accomplish this result. Of course the Unions will at first and for a long time oppose the plan and the graduates of such a system. But it must come. Foreigners pour in every spring, work all season at high American wages, and return to live in idleness all winter at home, only to repeat their travels next and each succeeding year. This is all wrong. Our labor organizations had better have the companionship and competition of intelligent Americans than of selfish foreigners.

Real Estate Record and Builders' Guide.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, APRIL 30, 1888.

Recent Decisions in Relation to Matters concerning Real Estate and Commercial Law.

DECIDED BY THE SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA.

BILLS AND NOTES:—An accommodation endorser of a promissory note, pledged by the maker as collateral security for an antecedent debt, may defend against such holder by showing that the endorsement was made for a specific purpose, and that without his knowledge or consent, the note was fraudulently used for another purpose entirely different.

COZENS vs. MIDDLETON.

Jan. 3, 1888.

CONTRACT FOR EXCHANGE OF LANDS:—A and W entered into separate and independent contracts for the sale to each other of certain real estate for specified prices at a certain time, which contracts constituted in effect a single contract for an exchange of the properties described. W's property was to be conveyed subject to an existing mortgage of $2700. Each party entered into possession of the property purchased, but at the time for the execution of the deeds W failed to produce a deed for the property sold by him. Some six weeks afterwards he tendered a conveyance to A of the property subject to a mortgage of $2754 and accrued interest, amounting in all to $2836. This deed A refused to accept, whereupon W filed a bill for specific performance. Pending this bill the holder of the mortgage brought suit thereon against W without notice to A, and having obtained judgment, purchased the property at Sheriff's sale. A decree for specific performance was entered against A on receiving a conveyance of W's right, title and interest in said property.

Held to be error, W never having performed or offered to perform his contract according to its true intent and meaning, and the circumstances having so changed without the fault of it that it was impossible for W to convey as he had agreed to do.

ALEXANDER'S APPEAL.

Jan. 30, 1888.

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE:—A mortgage given to protect the mortgagor's property from certain creditors holding notes upon which the mortgagor was endorser, was fraudulent and void as to other contesting creditors having claims at that time, and a sale under that mortgage passed no title as against them.

A gave a mortgage to B partly as alleged for a good consideration and partly to cover up his property so that it could not be made liable for his endorsements which he, A, did not regard as just debts. A sale was subsequently made under this mortgage, and the property was bought in by B, who as alleged held the same for A. C at the time of the execution of said mortgage was a creditor of A for labor performed; he secured a judgment for this claim before the sale under the mortgage, and subsequently sold this same property of A under an execution issued on this judgment. The purchaser at this sale, D, brought objection against B, and the Court below directed a verdict for defendant, on the ground that D failed to show that the mortgage to B was intended to hinder or delay C through whom he claimed. Held, that this was error; the effect that A's covering up his property to hinder particular creditors, was a wrong against all his creditors existing at that time, of which they or those claiming under them could take advantage; and as there was evidence that the mortgage was given and accepted to protect A's property from his endorser, the case should have been submitted to the jury.

BARRETT vs. NEALON.

Feb. 23, 1888.

MECHANICS' LIENS:—B built certain houses for which W furnished and laid the bricks. While the buildings were in process of erection, in order to enable B to make sales as opportunity offered, W, with other mechanics and material men, executed a release of liens which recited, inter alia, that they "agreed to release all liens which we, or any or either of us, have or might have on said buildings," for work or materials furnished for their erection; and then declared that for certain considerations, "we have . . . and do remise, release, and forever quit claim unto the said B, and to his heirs . . . and etc. All and all manner of liens, claims and demands whatsoever which we, or any or either of us, now have or might or could have on or against the said buildings and B, for work done or materials furnished for erecting or constructing the said buildings." Subsequently to the execution of this release, W did other work upon the buildings and filed a lien therefor. Upon the trial B produced a receipt for the balance alleged to be due, and offered the release in evidence, objection having been made, that the release was irrelevant, because the work claimed for was done after its execution, the Court rejected the offer.

HELD TO BE ERROR:—The date of such a release does not restrict or limit its operation. If made before the work began, or at any time during its progress it is operative to discharge the building from lien as completely as though made after its completion.

One hundred new brick houses are to be erected at

THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Grapeville and Penn Station. Mr. Alexander states that a whole town will be built and that millions of bricks will be required. He is now figuring among the brick makers as to contracts, and suggests that as brick clay is plenty at Grapeville, it would pay brick makers to locate there so as to save transportation. Mr. Alexander's address at time of writing was Seventh Avenue Hotel, Pittsburg, Pa.

—At Harrisburg, Pa., the Harrisburg Electric Light Company will enlarge its plant; a new two-story brick engine room, a brick boiler room and a new battery of boilers will be added. Councilman R. F. P. La Ross is making extensive inside and outside improvements to his residence at Fourth and State streets. The foundation for the electric street car plant, on South Cameron street, will soon be completed. Permits have been granted to John T. —At Pittsburg, Pa., the members of the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church will erect a new church building, probably at the corner of Congress street and Wylie avenue. The proposed new Odd Fellows' Hall will, it is said, be a go, as stock is being liberally taken by the lodges. A charter for a corporation with $75,000 capital to build the hall has been secured. The following persons are directors for the first year: John H. Skelton, Daniel Kinser, Harry S. Foight, W. T. Armstrong, and others. Work will commence in preparing the site for the new club house of the Duquesne Club this week. The new structure, before reported, will be five stories high. Longfellow, Alden and Harlow, architects, are preparing the plans, and when finished the contract will be let. The building will have a frontage of 75 feet on Sixth avenue and will extend back 109 feet. Material for the front has not been decided upon, but preference will be given to brown stone or Ohio stone. Sol. Schoyer, Jr., is president of the club, and William Carr, secretary.

Miscellaneous.

At Washington, D. C., the Bank of Washington will erect a $54,000 bank building on Seventh street, North-west. James G. Hill, 1424 New York avenue, that city, is the architect. W. Bruce Gray, 600 Thirteenth street, Washington, D. C., has made plans for enlarging the Washington Anglers' Club House. At same place, T. F. Schneider, 933 F street, North-west, has made plans for a store and dwelling for Mrs. Charlotte Berger, at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue. ### Physician and Patient.

A French Court recently rendered a decision which is of considerable interest in connection with vital statistics. A physician refused, in a suit against a life insurance company, to testify as to the illness from which his patient died, and the Court sustained him in his position, holding that the physician must be the sole judge as to whether the nature of the illness came under the cover of professional secrecy.

The best method of cleaning Russia-iron stovepipe of rust is to dip the pipe in a solution of one part of sulphuric acid and ten of water, and then immerse in a bath of hot lime water; finally rub with dry sawdust. To black or polish and make Russia stovepipe look like new, take of asphaltum two pounds, boiled linseed oil one pint, oil of turpentine two quarts. Fuse the asphaltum in an iron pot, boil the linseed oil, and add while hot. Stir well and remove from the fire. When partially cooled add the oil of turpentine. Some makers add dryers. Japan is better than paint to keep tin from rusting.

ABOUT INDIANS.

The total Indian population of the United States is 247,761.

The estimated number of Indians in Alaska is 30,000.

The Indian agencies of the United States are sixty-one in number.

The number of Indian church members in the United States is 28,663.

The number of houses occupied by Indians in the United States is 21,232.

The number of Indians in the United States living on and cultivating land is 9,612.

The number of Indians in the United States who wear citizen's dress is 81,621.

The number of Indians in the United States who can read Indian languages is 10,027.

The number of Indians in the United States who can read English is but 23,495.

There are ten Indian training schools located in different parts of the United States.

Indian reservations in 1886 in the United States amounted to 212,466 square miles approximately.—Delaware County Record.

THE Standard Oil Company has commenced the preliminary work for the building of an immense pipe line from Lima, O., to Chicago, a distance of over 200 miles, for the purpose of transporting oil, both crude and refined, to the western metropolises. The Standard Company's action was brought about by the restrictions in the interstate commerce law, and the savings in freight will pay for the line in a short time. The right of way for the line has been secured to within a short distance of Chicago. The capacity of the line will be about 25,000 barrels a day.

A line from this rich oil and gas centre to New York city is also contemplated, and the specifications have been drawn. The estimated cost is $2,000,000, and the New York line will be commenced as soon as the Chicago line is completed, which will be in about sixty days.

Sarcasm.

The poor man's Axminster carpet pays only 46 per cent. The rich man's drugget pays 86 per cent. The dainty silk hose with which the working man's family decks itself pay 50 per cent. The worsted stockings of the millionaire's family pay 73 per cent. The working man's olives come in free, and paté de fois gras pays only 25 per cent. But the millionaire's corn starch pays 85 per cent, and his rice 106. The contemplation of a few facts like these ought to teach the working man a proper gratitude to the framers and perpetrators of the war tariff.—Detroit Free Press (Dem.)

At the present time the number of deaf mutes in the world is estimated to be from 700,000 to 900,000, and of these some 63 per cent. are said to be born deaf, the others losing their hearing by different causes. In the care and education of this vast number about 400 institutions only are provided, containing less than 27,000 inmates of both sexes, and employing some 2,000 teachers.

THE crushing strength of bricks has been found to range between 5000 and 22,000 pounds per square inch, although the strength commonly met is between 10,000 and 16,000 pounds per square inch. Those which had the highest strength were common hard-burned bricks; the softer face bricks gave the lower results. The degree of hardness to which the clay is burnt, at least within limits, exerts a decided influence upon the strength of the bricks, the strength increasing with the hardness.

THERE ARE, according to French statistics, 482,663 native French in foreign countries, against 2,601,000 Germans, 4,200,000 British, 1,077,000 Italians, 497,000 Belgians, 795,000 Scandinavians, 337,000 Austro-Hungarians, 453,000 Spaniards and Portuguese, 207,000 Swiss and 148,000 Russians. In France there are, on the contrary, 1,001,090 foreigners, of whom 241,000 are Italians and 82,000 Germans. Germany has but 378,792 resident foreigners, England 283,000, and Italy only 60,000.

AS TO numerical values, the crushing strength of natural stones, tested in the form of cubes, ranges from 4000 pounds per square inch for soft sandstones to 25,000 pounds per square inch, the strength of some granites and slates. These are about the extreme values met in stones which find their way into general use; it is not probable that this exceptionally high limit of strength is often reached, and those of less strength than the above mentioned would hardly be regarded as suitable building material in the absence of tests indicating their quality. It will be understood that the strength here referred to has been displayed by material tested under the most favorable conditions for developing high resistance, and if a comparison is made with material tested under other conditions, the fact should be duly considered. Granites of good average quality range in strength from 12,000 to 25,000 pounds per square inch. Limestones and marbles average between 8000 and 16,000 pounds per square inch, with exceptional quarries furnishing stones which reach 22,000 pounds per square inch. Sandstones range from 4000 to 16,000 pounds per square inch, some of the strongest reaching 22,000 pounds. The investigation of the gain in strength of those stones which are soft and easily worked when first quarried, but which harden during seasoning, has not been undertaken, neither has the effect of hammer-dressing on the surface of the stone been inquired into, although it is very probable that some stones may have had their strength impaired by rough treatment during dressing.

THE range in strength of cements and mortars extends from say 8,000 or 9,000 lbs. per square inch for very strong neat cement down to about 150 or 100 lbs. per square inch, the strength of lime mortar. Intermediate values are found with different compositions of cement and lime mortars and concretes. From the wide range in strength which these materials cover, it will be seen that ample strength exists to meet every reasonable requirement. In order, however, to obtain suitable material in particular cases when a work of great importance is undertaken or where exceptional strength is needed, recourse should be had to experiments on the particular material selected for use.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, MAY 7, 1888.

ARCHITECTS do not seem to be as busy as last year at this time. There is considerable work on the boards, but the chances are that much of it will remain uncompleted. The fact is business of all kinds, all over the country, has lost much of its former vigor. The season in real estate matters is said to be very backward, yet transfers of property show very little falling off. It would be expecting too much to hope that the building interests would remain unimpaired while the other-business interests of the country are so seriously affected. A large number of two- and three-story houses are already under way, and the probabilities are that quite as many of these houses will be erected as during '87. It is too early for reliable predictions, but everything seems to act against a building boom.

THE MASTER BUILDERS' EXCHANGE, of this city, has proposed by resolution to solve the problem of trade-learning for our American youth by introducing mechanical trade schools. The present almost complete ostracism of Young America through the arbitrary and unjust dictatorial policy of trade unions has already accomplished more harm than can be undone for years to come. The native American mechanic has been so far superseded in his own country that in some trades he is almost unknown. It is full time to commence, if the difficulties in the way of boys seeking trades are to be overcome. The Philadelphia Exchange should extend its influence to other cities, and should present the question to the next Master Builder's National Convention, with the view of extending mechanical education to the greatest degree possible. This is the only solution of the problem from its present standpoint, and earnest efforts in this direction will soon afford a proper remedy.

WOMAN'S chances in the race for bread are yearly improving, her field of labor is broadening, slowly to be sure, but sufficiently rapid to keep pace with her mental growth. She is pushing her way against the thick headed prejudices of men, but her efforts would not amount to so much were these prejudices invulnerable, between her pushing and the yielding of men before the inevitable, she is making headway. Fifty years hence such decided changes will have been wrought in the political and business status of American women that the shrewdest could not even anticipate what those changes may involve. The present revolution as to the handling of the liquor question is the result of woman's influence. The heaven has only commenced to work. Ten years more of this self same subtle influence, and anything may be expected. Woman's influence is stretching out everywhere, and all comes from her higher education. A few more women's colleges and a little more time, and it is a question if she is not able to dictate terms. It is not a question of woman's rights, for she will have her rights in less than fifty years in spite of opposition.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of building permits reported in our last issue of April 30th was 112, representing 254 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 342, amounting to $1,322,872.50, of which $1,038,532.30 was the cash consideration, and $284,340.20 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $8,509 is to be added for ground rents, which on a six per cent. basis, amounts to $141,816.66. The sales at auction amounted to $68,810, with an incumbrance of $5,112.

State Hospital to be built.

Under an act approved June 14th, 1887, Governor Beaver has appointed the following commissioners to select sites and erect State Hospitals for injured persons within the bituminous and semi-bituminous coal regions of Pennsylvania: Henry Warner of Hoboken P. O. town, Allegheny Co., Pa., for the First and Seventh Districts; James P. Calvin of Aaronsburg, P. O. town, Centre County, Pa., for the Eighth District; J. M. Reich of Dunbar P. O. town, Fayette Co., Pa., for the Second and Fifth Districts; Daniel Cameron of Millsboro, Pa., for the Fourth District; H. D. Tate of Bedford, P. O. town, Bedford Co., Pa., for the Sixth District, and John J. Spearman of Sharon P. O. town, Mercer Co., Pa., for the Third District. The Commissioners are to select sites and submit the same to the Governor for approval within four months. The Commissioners, after approval, are to procure plans and erect hospitals to cost not over $600,000 each, exclusive of land. Architects and others will do well to communicate with the above.

Properties Subject to Leins.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE NEW CROWN OIL STOVE.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves.
It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

"Gilbertson's Old Method" Roofing Tin.

Every Sheet Stamped with Brand and Thickness.

Every Box Guaranteed and Marked with Actual Weight.

Imperfect or Waster Sheets arise in the manufacture of all Roofing Plates; but no imperfect or waster sheets can be had of the "Gilbertson's Old Method" brand, for the reason that they are not imported; hence, but one kind can be had, and that the best.

There is no case on record where the "Gilbertson's Old Method" has failed to be chosen over all other brands of roofing plates, where QUALITY, and NOT PRICE was the consideration. We challenge contradiction of this statement.

Reasons why the "Gilbertson's Old Method" plates are selected by the Government for the roof of the White House at Washington. We quote from the specifications as follows:

"The Government desires to secure the BEST QUALITY OF DIPPED ROOFING PLATES, and samples showing imperfections in size or weight will be rejected." "Comparative tests will be made for weight, ductility, uniformity of plates and thickness and quality of coating, ALL of which, as well as the prices, will be considered in making the awards." "The United States desires ONLY THE BEST CLASS OF MATERIALS, and parties who imagine that any other class will be received are respectfully requested not to bid."

JOHN N. GALLAGHER, Prop'r.

Refers with permission to William M. Singerly,
Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, MAY 14, 1888.

THE possible practical applications of electricity seem to possess a broader range of usefulness than even experts comprehend. Elias E. Ries, a Baltimore electrician, has received five patents for methods and apparatus for heating by electricity. The system is said to be absolutely safe, as the heat is given forth by electrical currents from central generating stations, electric light wires being used. Ries' inventions, it is said, also cover special methods for heating and lighting railway cars, private dwellings and factories.

THE Philadelphia Natural Gas Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., of which George Westinghouse is President, seem to be earning lots of money. The net earnings of the company for the year ending March 31, 1888, according to the Directors' report, were 13.53 per cent. of the entire capital invested, or $1,014,642.06; of this amount dividends were declared at the rate of one per cent. per month, which amounted to $842,626.50 for the year, leaving a surplus for the year of $172,015.56. The net earnings for the month of March, this year, were $101,277.68, out of which $75,000 have already been paid as dividends.

WILLIAM HARKNESS, Jr., of this city, in an address delivered at the opening of the Master Builders' Exchange of Wilmington, Del., asserted that "the country is too much dependent on foreign labor for our mechanics." It is very evident that this sentiment is spreading, and that in less than ten years some special system of trade learning will make the American youth both a trade learner and a trade worker. Much good can be accomplished towards securing such results by the earnest cooperation of the thirty-six Master Builders' Exchanges now organized and belonging to the National Association. The Philadelphia Master Builders' Exchange is seriously contemplating the starting of mechanical trade schools. The other thirty-five Exchanges throughout the country should follow its good example as soon as possible.

It is said that dry rot, the enemy of builders, is a sort of contagious disease. Good authorities state that it can be carried by saws and other tools which have been in contact with affected wood, and that such contact and impregnation is often the cause of the mysteriously rapid decay of originally sound timbers.—Chicago Times.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

BILLS AND NOTES.—A suit having been brought on a promissory note, an affidavit of defense was filed in which the defendant averred that the note was procured from defendant at the solicitations of B., of the firm of B. & W., and had been signed by defendant for the benefit of B. & W.; that B. had kept defendant under a delusion as to the use he (B.) intended to make of the note, that B. had endorsed the note with the firm name of B. & W., and had used the proceeds of the note for his own use and benefit in fraud of defendant and the firm of B. & W. Held, that there was no error in entering judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense. Leatherman v. Hecksher, Feb. 6th, 1888.

COMMISSIONS.—Where the copies of an agreement for the sale of real estate varied to such an extent that the parties absolutely refused to carry out the contract in any manner, except according to the literal terms of the copy held by each, the real estate broker who brought the parties together was not entitled to commissions from the vendor. Pierce v. Truitt, Feb. 20, 1888.

DAMAGES.—The plaintiff leased from defendant a room for the sale of liquors, and defendant agreed verbally that an adjoining room controlled by it should not be used for the same purpose. The testimony showed that the adjoining room had been used and occupied by a tenant of defendant, that she had sold liquors openly and continuously on the premises and had taken out a license, and that the plaintiff's sales had fallen off $5000. The lower court charged the jury that there was evidence to show more than nominal damages, and that the jury should ascertain as correctly as they could under the evidence what damage the plaintiff had suffered. Held, there was no error in these instructions. Brewing Co. v. McCann, Jan. 3, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 71 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 South Third street.

Architects' Notes.

The vestry of Grace Church, Mount Airy, contemplate the erection of a new edifice to be located in the vicinity of the present church. Architect Burns is preparing plans in the style of an English village church.

August S. Wode, 20 South Broad street, has drawn the plans for a cottage at Elm station for William L. Owens. The building will be of frame with a stone base and shingle roof with an interior finish of white pine, hard wood mantels and stair cases.

Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, is preparing plans for the erection of a building at Girard College. The Committee on Household has been instructed to prepare plans and specifications and submit them to the Board. The new buildings will be capable of accommodating two hundred boys.

Charles McIntire, Sr., architect at Easton, Northampton County, Pa., sends us the following. George V. Wallace, will erect four houses on Eighth and Spruce streets; George Snyder, a store and dwelling at Lehigh and Walnut streets; L. E. Horn, a residence on Butler street between Raspberry and Fifteenth streets; and at South Easton (suburb) Dr. L. S. ### Council Proceedings.

At the meeting of Common Council last Thursday ordinances were agreed to as follows: To rebuild the wooden bridge across the Wissahickon Creek at the Montgomery County line at a cost to the city of $3000; fixing the security of contractors for lining the East Park Reservoir at $50,000; authorizing the grading of Tusculum and other streets leading to the bridge built over the Reading Railroad at Somerset street; appropriating $10,000 to repair Woodland avenue in Twenty-seventh Ward; authorizing the widening and opening of Chestnut street from the Western line of 922 Chestnut street to the Eastern line of Tenth street, and authorizing the Mayor to enter security for damages to property that might ensue by the change.

Mr. Maloney introduced a bill to provide by contract with the Northeast Rapid Transit Rail way Company for the occupation of certain streets and for the better securing of protection to property owners. This bill would permit the company to build a double track railroad from Jenkintown to League Island, with a branch line from Emerald street and Lehigh avenue, along Emerald and other streets to Tacony. In the built-up part of the city the road will be elevated. It is practically the old bill rehabilitated.—By Mr. McGirr, asking for the removal of all market stands and sheds from the public highways; another petition by Mr. Meehan from Twenty-second Ward citizens asking favorable consideration of the plans of the Reading Terminal Company; to place steam heating apparatus in Independence Hall building to heat the halls, courts, Council chambers, etc., to prohibit the emission of dense smoke, coal dust, cinders from smoke stacks or chimneys so that the same shall be discharged upon the property of others, and to declare such emission a public nuisance.

Mr. Claghorn asked that Common Councils consider the Select Council ordinance permitting the Rapid Transit Electric Company to occupy Twenty-ninth street to test the practicability of their system. Mr. Fow argued against the granting of the privilege, and said that the company ought to go and hire ground for their tests. He was opposed by Mr. Bardsley and U. C. Smith, who argued that as the State had granted the charter there should be an opportunity given to test it. Mr. Albrecht, of the Twenty-eighth Ward, lives on Twenty-ninth street, and said his constituents were anxious the road should be introduced. It was passed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Anderson called up Select Council's bill authorizing the sale of a lot at the southeast corner of Thirty-third and Marston streets to Battery B, National Guard of Pennsylvania, for $3000. Mr. Fow objected to the passage of the bill, as it was owned by the city for "poor purposes." He moved it be referred to the City Solicitor for his opinion and moved a postponement. Mr. Anderson then withdrew the bill, and the resolution was passed.

In Select Council several ordinances were referred to the Committee on Finance asking for appropriation to authorize the repaving of the footwalks around Logan Square; also, to place a granite curb or flag of improved pavement around Rittenhouse Square; also, for a dressed curb in front of Norris Square. All these matters had been favorably reported by the Committee on City Property.

The Committee on Law reported favorably an ordinance authorizing the Board of Highway Supervisors to charge a fee of $5 on each frontage foot where underground vaults are built from the house line to within three feet of the curb line, and a fee of $25 for each such foot where the vault is allowed to go to the curb line.

These ordinances were passed: To authorize the Mayor to execute a deed to Battery A, National Guard, for the lot at Thirty-third and Merston Streets for the consideration of $3000; to lay water pipe on sundry streets; also granting permission to the Rapid Transit Electric Company to occupy Twenty-ninth street, North of Diamond street, to test the practicability and plans of operation of the company; to appropriate $10,000 to repair Woodland avenue from Forty-ninth street to Cobb's Creek.

It was agreed by both branches that the adjournment on June 21st would begin the Summer recess, lasting until September 1st.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of May 14th was 123, representing 373 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 317, amounting to $1,666,839.46, of which $1,311,439.46 was the cash consideration and $351,400 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $6140 is to be added for ground rents, which on a six per cent. basis amounts to $102,333.33. Tee sales at auction aggregated $274,907, with an incumbrance of $15,466.

THE question, "Can a house become so infected that those who live in it for any length of time are especially liable to become affected with consumption?" is answered by a construction contemporary with a guarded affirmative. It seems very probable, says the Engineering and Building Record, that this may occur, and that a certain proportion of those cases of consumption which are said to be due to heredity, as where several cases occur in one family, are in reality due to common residence in an infected house. In support of this view, a paper by Dr. Arthur Ransom, just published by the Epidemiological society of London, entitled "Some Evidence Respecting Tubercular Infection Arises" is quoted. This goes to show not only that such infection has been traced, but just how the germs could and probably were preserved from one tenancy to another. The same is true of diphtheria and a long list of contagious diseases which are as dangerous to succeeding occupants of rooms in which sufferers have lived as to the latter's immediate attendants.—Sanitary News.

AT THE regular monthly meeting of the Illinois State Agricultural Association, the following resolution was offered by architect Normand S. Patton, and was, on motion, laid on the table:

"Resolved, That it shall be considered unprofessional conduct for a member of this association to allow any one in his employ to do work as an architect, and this shall be construed as meaning that all work done by the employees, either during or outside the office hours, shall be done in the name of the architect or firm, and compensation for said work shall be paid to said architect or firm.

"If any member of this association shall violate the above resolution, it shall be considered sufficient cause for expulsion from the association.

"Any case occurring under this resolution shall come before the executive committee, whose action shall be final, as provided for in cases of discipline."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, MAY 21, 1888.

FROM the volume of praise that has appeared in the columns of the newspapers in the interest of the Reading elevated, the casual reader would suppose that the whole city press was committed to its interest, but when the fact is known that much of this very interesting reading was paid for at so much per line most of the moral effect is lost. We need all the improvements possible but not at the great sacrifice demanded by the Wharton Barker Syndicate whose enterprise and patriotic motives commence and end with the dollars and cents that are in the job no matter who is ruined.

THE influence of salt in preventing cement from freezing has been satisfactorily demonstrated in Germany. The experiments consisted of blocks of stone laid with cement mixed with pure water and with water in which was dissolved two to eight per cent of salt, exposed to a temperature of 20° to 32° F. The result showed that the cement mixed with pure water had crumbled; the two per cent cement was in better condition, while the eight per cent cement had not been affected by the cold. The salt had kept the cement from freezing, and it had set as well as in warm weather.

ON the 24th instant the corner stone of the new Catholic University to be erected at Washington, D. C., is to be laid with great ceremony. The event will be characterized by the presentation, in the name of the Pope, of the "Golden Rose" to Miss Mary G. Caldwell, of New York City, whose munificent gift of $300,000 was practically the inspiring influences which inaugurated the movement to establish what promises to become the most important seat of learning of its kind in the world.

PAXINOSA INN, the new hotel now in course of erection on Paxinosa Heights, one mile north of Easton Pa., is nearing completion. It is situated on an elevation 785 feet above the sea and nearly 500 feet above the Delaware river. The building is of frame, 240 ft x 46 ft four stories high on east end and three stories with large tower on the west end. It will have 85 sleeping chambers and the necessary parlors and other rooms for the accommodation of guests. The house is to be handsomely furnished and must become a popular Summer resort. The opening will take place sometime during June next. D. L. Nevin, Esq., South Third St., Easton, Pa., is the Secretary of the Company and can give information.

Cope & Stewardson, 212 South Third street, have just started plans for the alteration and addition to George Eaken's store, 48 South Fourth street. The building will extend back to the line. Many other improvements are contemplated. No contracts have been let.

The following architects are making competitive drawings for the addition to the Art Club (before reported): Amos J. Boyden, Charles M. Burns, Cope & Stewardson, Frank Miles Day, John J. Deery, E. F. Durang, Wilson Eyre, Willis G. Hale, Hazlehurst & Huckle, Lindley Johnson, Benjamin Linfoot, and Smith & Pritchett.

"Gilbertson's Old Method" Roofing Tin.

Every Sheet Stamped with Brand and Thickness.

Every Box Guaranteed and Marked with Actual Weight.

Imperfect or Waster Sheets arise in the manufacture of all Roofing Plates; but no imperfect or waster sheets can be had of the "Gilbertson's Old Method" brand, for the reason that they are not imported; hence, but one kind can be had, and that the best.

There is no case on record where the "Gilbertson's Old Method" has failed to be chosen over all other brands of roofing plates, where QUALITY, and NOT PRICE was the consideration. We challenge contradiction of this statement.

Reasons why the "Gilbertson's Old Method" plates are selected by the Government for the roof of the White House at Washington. We quote from the specifications as follows:

"The Government desires to secure the BEST QUALITY OF DIPPED ROOFING PLATES, and samples showing imperfections in size or weight will be rejected." "Comparative tests will be made for weight, ductility, uniformity of plates and thickness and quality of coating, ALL of which, as well as the prices, will be considered in making the awards." "The United States desires ONLY THE BEST CLASS OF MATERIALS, and parties who imagine that any other class will be received are respectfully requested not to bid."

Fred G. Thorn, 501 Chestnut street has finished plans which are ready for estimating for the Philadelphia Asphalt Paving Companies new building at South Camden. The structure will be of brick one story high, 81 ft square, also a brick stable two stories high for the Union Transfer Company to be located at Centre near Evans street, Germantown. The building will be 105 ft x 56 ft and contain room for twenty-eight horses.

Moses & King, 226 Walnut street, are working on the drawings for a frame house for E. Nasby, of Woodbury, N. J. The cost will be $6000. Plans are being made for a frame and brick house for F. S. Presbrey, proprietor of Public Opinion, Washington, D. C., to cost $7000. They have just completed plans for a frame dwelling costing $4000 for Captain H. V. Steelman, of Delair, N. J. None of the above contracts have been let.

Constable Brothers, New York City, have finished the plans for the Howard Hospital to be erected on the east side of Broad street, between Catharine and Kater streets. The building will be three stories high with a basement. Brick will be used in the construction, together with Ohio and Warsaw stones and Conshohocken stone for the base. Iron beams and stairs will be put in, and the finish will be either hard white or adamant. The three clinics and managers' room and offices will be on the first floor, the lecture and ward room on the second, and the kitchen and ward room on the third. The building will also be provided with all the necessities for the proper conduction of the work.

Messrs. Smith & Warner, architects at Reading and Harrisburg, are working on plans for the new market house, Harrisburg, their designs having been accepted by the Chestnut Street Market Co. The report that R. D. Miller was the selected architect was erroneous, that gentleman not being in the competition. Smith & Warner are also engaged on plans for residences for Messrs. Kahn and E. L. Stern, and four houses for Wm. Aldinger. They are also remodelling the country residence of James Boyd, Esq., and preparing sketches for the new church of the Poster street Lutheran congregation, and for the club-house of the Harrisburg Boat Club. Have also on the boards several proposed buildings in Reading and Harrisburg.

E. P. Bertolett, 257 South Fourth street, has finished the drawings for an addition to the Chester county court-house at West Chester, Pa. The building will be two stories high, of brick, the construction being fire-proof. The dimensions are 60 ft x 100 ft. Besides containing the offices for the use of the Recorder, Superintendent and Treasurer of the county, which will be on the first floor, the second story will be used for the Law Library and Jury rooms. The rearrangement of the second story is contemplated, which will provide for an additional court-room and offices for the judges. Considerable car. has been exercised in the arrangement of the various offices and toilet rooms, which have been placed in very convenient locations, special attention being paid to all sanitary appliances. The building will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The finest will be in hard wood. Mr. Bertolett has also made the plans for a pair of brick cottages costing $3000 each for John M. Bertolett, to be built at Reading, Pa. Also for the remodelling of the twin houses of Michael Towers, of Phoenixville, Pa. The improvement will cost $3000. No contracts have been let.

On June 1st ground will be broken for a new theatre to be located at Twelfth and South streets by J. Hittler & Son, Rowe & Dagit, 122 S. Second street, architects. The front elevation on South street is in the modern Romanesque style. The base course will be of Jonesboro granite, the remaining portion of pressed and moulded brick, with Quincy granite columns supporting the arches that carry the outside stairways; the remaining stone trimmings will be from the Yardleyville quarries. The name of "Gayety Theatre" will be executed in an ornamental terra cotta panel. The building will either be lighted by electricity or the Wellsbach incandescent lights. The seating capacity is 2200. A fire-proof curtain will also be used, and the stage will be supplied by the dry pipe automatic sprinkler and hose attachments. The interior arrangement of the auditorium does away with the horse-shoe method of seating, it being such that every row of seats is a direct aisle to the doorways. The gallery and balcony are suspended from the roof. Dressing rooms will be provided with all the modern conveniences, and ample provisions have been made for exits in case of fire. The decorations are to be in the Moresque, and the proscenium will be highly decorated in this style, and the designs are new. The stage is 40 ft x 75 ft and the height 50 ft. #### Building Notes.

Work has been commenced on the steeple of the new Baptist church at Nicetown. Plastering on the inside has not been commenced.

We learn that the Cinderlithic Pavement and Construction Company of Pottsville, Pa., has received the contract for laying over 7000 square yards of pavement and the curbing around the U. S. Naval Asylum, Gray's Ferry Road, this city.

The contract for 180 houses at Grapeville, Westmoreland Co., Pa., has been awarded to Clay & McDuffee of this city. A Company known as the Standard Brick Co., with Mr. McDuffee, 1925 N. Seventh st., as President has also been formed to manufacture brick for the new town.

The property 748 South Tenth street has been purchased by the Literary Society of St. Paul's R. C. Church, Christian and Tenth streets. They propose altering the building for the uses of the Society and making additions of billiard rooms, etc. A gymnasium and bowling alley will also be introduced.

C. H. Cochran, real estate broker, whose offices are at 1210 Market street and 52nd street and Lancaster avenue, has purchased a plot of ground, 137 ft x 122 ft, at the corner of Conestoga and Paschall streets, 24th Ward, near the 52nd street station of the Pennsylvania R. R., main line, and will probably erect eleven two-story houses.

W. S. P. Shields will soon commence an operation of two hundred houses at Forty-sixth and Woodland avenue on the ground formerly used by the Home for Destitute Colored Children. The operation of Mr. Seields on Forty-sixth street about which there has been so much controversy and of which it is claimed that the buildings have been erected illegally is now in the hands of a committee who will make investigations. The opposition seems to have arisen from one of the residents who thought that property would be injured by the building of these small houses. As Mr. Shields is the owner of much of the property in the neighborhood has done as much if not more than any man in that ward for the advancement of its interests, it is hardly probable that he would jeopardize his own interest in any manner. We have made a personal inspection of the building and examined the stone mason, carpenter, bricklayer and roofer who all affirm that the work being done is of the best manner and while they are not palaces yet they are good substantial houses and will not lessen values in that neighborhood.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.—The defendant held four out of six notes given for the purchase money of real estate and secured by a deed of trust of the real estate. The owner of the land sold it and three weeks after the sale obtained from the defendant a release of the land from the encumbrance of the trust deed. The release was, in general terms, for all the tracts sold and recited the sale made three weeks before. The plaintiff who was the purchaser, claimed that he did not know that the defendant held only four of the notes. The land was subsequently sold on judgments on the other two notes and the plaintiff was obliged to buy it for his own protection. In an action on the case for deceit by the purchaser against the defendant, the Court charged that if the jury found that the plaintiff was without notice that defendant did not hold all the notes and was without knowledge of facts to put him upon inquiry, and trusted to the silence of the defendant, then plaintiff was entitled to recover. Verdict for plaintiff $945. Held, not to be error, Craft v. Phillips, Jan. 3rd, 1888.

EXECUTION.—If instructions amounting to a stay or a relinquishment of the goods to the debtor in an execution, are given to the Sheriff, the plaintiff's right to the proceeds are postponed in favor of subsequent executions. Where a plaintiff in an execution instructs a Sheriff that there is to be no publicity, and that the defendant is to go ahead and conduct his business as usual and take and keep the money from sales, the plaintiff's right to the proceeds will be postponed in favor of subsequent execution creditors. Larzere's Appeal, March 19th, 1888.

BILLS AND NOTES.—Where one endorsed a demand note with the understanding with the bank which discounted it that he would not be pressed for immediate payment and that he would only be required to pay the interest on the note every six months, he cannot set up as a defense to a suit on the note, the delay of notice and protest for eight months after the note was made. Jones v. Bank, March 10th, 1888.

DEVISE.—A testator left the residue of his estate to his wife, "for her use and support and occupation and possession as long as she remained" his widow. The will provided that in case she remarried she was to have only what the law allowed her, and that at her request that the land should be sold, the executor "may sell the same" and the money received therefor should be "put on interest for her support. In the following clause the testator appointed an executor and continued: "And (I) empower him to give a deed for my real estate, the same as I myself could have done if living." The widow remarried, and thereafter letters of administration a. were granted upon the estate, and she requested a sale, and the administrator sold the property to the defendant, who refused to accept a deed claiming that the administrator had no power to make title. Held, that the administrator had power to sell under the will, and the fact that the sale was made at the request of the widow after her remarriage was of no consequence. Livingwood v. Heffner, March 12th, 1888.

DEVISE.—A testator bequeathed as follows: "From and immediately after the death of my said two daughters and the survivor of them, if my wife be then also deceased, I give and bequeath to A. $3,000." Held, that the legacy was contingent, and A having died before the daughters and widow of decedent, the representatives were not entitled to the legacy. Gorgas' Appeal, Feb. 6th, 1888.

DISTRESS FOR RENT.—It is the general rule both at common law and in Pennsylvania, that whatever goods are found upon demised premises may be distrained for rent, whether they belong to the tenant, subtenant, or a stranger. But where the tenant in the course of his business is necessarily put in possession of the property with whom he deals, or those who employ him, such property (although on the demised premises) is not liable to distress for rent due thereon from the tenant. The consignment of a knife grinding machine to a paper box manufacturer, on trial with a view to the sale of the machine if it proved satisfactory, is not such a delivery of the machine in the necessary way of trade or business as will exempt the same from distress for rent under the above exception. The consignor of such machine cannot claim that the said machine is exempt, even though his consignee is not in possession of the demised premises, but has stored his machine there with one of the tenants, without charge. Page v. Middleton, Feb. 6th, 1888.

MECHANICS' LIENS.—A mechanics' lien was filed for scales furnished to a grain elevator. The defense was that the scales did not weigh properly and on that account were rejected. The jury having found that the scales complied with the terms of the contract. Held, that if the scales did their work well as found by the jury, the defendant was bound to accept them and the lien attached. Storrie Co. v. Riehle, Jan. 23rd, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 71 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 South Third street.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE NEW CROWN OIL STOVE.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves. It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

"Gilbertson's Old Method" Roofing Tin.

Every Sheet Stamped with Brand and Thickness.

Every Box Guaranteed and Marked with Actual Weight.

Imperfect or Waster Sheets arise in the manufacture of all Roofing Plates; but no imperfect or waster sheets can be had of the "Gilbertson's Old Method" brand, for the reason that they are not imported; hence, but one kind can be had, and that the best.

There is no case on record where the "Gilbertson's Old Method" has failed to be chosen over all other brands of roofing plates, where QUALITY, and NOT PRICE was the consideration. We challenge contradiction of this statement.

Reasons why the "Gilbertson's Old Method" plates are selected by the Government for the roof of the White House at Washington. We quote from the specifications as follows:

"The Government desires to secure the BEST QUALITY OF DIPPED ROOFING PLATES, and samples showing imperfections in size or weight will be rejected." "Comparative tests will be made for weight, ductility, uniformity of plates and thickness and quality of coating, ALL of which, as well as the prices, will be considered in making the awards." "The United States desires ONLY THE BEST CLASS OF MATERIALS, and parties who imagine that any other class will be received are respectfully requested not to bid."

ARCHITECTS as a rule are even perhaps more conservative in their selection of special material for special work than their responsibilities would justify. This conservatism is the result of a fear of being misjudged, or even charged, as is now often the case, with having been influenced by money considerations. This would be so, no matter how high the plane of business integrity the architect had reached, or how sacred he as a man regarded his duty to his client. The morbid tendencies of some men to estimate others from the low plane on which they themselves are standing, must be changed before men holding responsible positions in any calling, can even hope to be free from the stab of envious competitors, or those having axes to grind.

There are honest men, to be sure, and plenty of them, in all trades and professions, and we may be pardoned for believing that the profession of architecture has a goodly proportion of them, notwithstanding the ready disposition of some people to sit in judgment upon the motives and actions of every one of our city architects six days in the week, because, forsooth, some special material was designated or an honest and strict compliance of a contract had been exacted by an architect, whose unswerving sense of duty to his client over-topped even his own personal preferences, on the earnest solicitation of his dearest friends.

This is wrong, shamefully wrong, and it is just as insulting to the whole profession as it is wrong to a single individual. We can see no logical reason why an owner or his representative—the architect—should not designate a special material or a special sort, size, weight, color, of a single element, or in fact every element that is to enter into the structure he is having erected with the self same justice and sense of proprietorship that an other man can order a pair of trousers of stipulated texture, color, weight, style and make, and for the life of us we cannot recognize any imposition in it.

If there is a preference for goods in an open market of a certain style, make, weight, brand or color, because of superiority, and that preference has been honestly earned, then we believe that the sound business principle of the selection of the fittest should be exercised by an architect as an unquestioned right, and which, through the very nature of his calling, he must exercise as an honest man, without fear or favor, and he who would swerve an iota from this high standard of professional integrity is unfit to follow so honorable a calling.

To influence a departure from a rigid enforcement of a business principle so estimable would be most pernicious and alarming, it would be retro-active, inasmuch as it would place a premium upon mediocrity, the work of honest effort to produce the best possible product of years of constant and almost incessant improvement would be discounted in favor of the maker who was after the nimble sixpences of credulous buyers, and the honest manufacturer would be superceded by an army of Cheap Johns whose wares would bear the stamp of dirty expedients which are dear at any price.

There are no reputable houses in any business who would have disturbed those standards of measurement which are dearly enough earned by years of unswerving adherence to business integrity, and which are sign boards to the purchasing public. Merit will continue to command recognition whether in men or wares, and the man who builds without merit and honest worth must fall, and so it will be even unto the end.

FOR some time past the question of building a new Masonic Temple in Camden has been under discussion.

If this matter is conducted on the same general principles that seem to govern most of the needed improvements in that city it is to be feared that the present members of that estimable fraternity will have passed over into the large majority before the building of this temple becomes an accomplished fact.

That such a place is needed is beyond question, so is the opera house, the plans of which have been made for years but public enterprise is at such a low ebb that in spite of the efforts and liberal offers of many citizens with advanced ideas, the opera house is at statu quo.

The Masons however, are always up to the needs of their order and have the funds necessary to carry out their ideas. Committees have been formed to inquire into the advisability of the project, but according to an interview held with a prominent Mason of Camden no definite action has been taken, many members being opposed to incurring the expense which will be considered.

A Philadelphia architect is about to start preliminary sketches which will be presented to the proper committee for inspection at an early date. We would suggest to the Masons of Camden that if they ever do build, that a portion of their structure be set aside for an amusement hall with all the facilities for giving a first-class dramatic entertainment.

NOTWITHSTANDING the promised heavy expenditures to be made in repairing our streets it will be found that there are no funds to spare. The repaving of Marshall street at its lower end with heavy belgian blocks is a piece of selfish legislation to say the least, the street is used very little and if the same amount of work had been done on Vine street or some other important thoroughfare it would have counted just that much towards accomplishing the much desired improvement to those streets that need it the most.

THE beneficial effects of our high license system have already shown themselves in our public squares, one arrest a day is now a rare thing in Franklin Square, whereas from 8 to 20 a day before the introduction of the new system was a regular thing, besides which, upwards of a hundred were made to move on because of their drunken condition.

BUILDING in New York has fallen off fully one half compared with last year, while here in Philadelphia, although results are not likely to reach the high calculations made early in the year, yet the difference thus far is not so great as that of New York by considerable.

THE building going up on the site of the ruins of the late fireworks' fire in Broadway, New York, preests a novelty in the shape of lintels of copper. All this work was to have been done in terra-cotta, but the contractor failed in his work, and to save time this experiment was tried. It delights the architect and builder and all who have seen it. Dissolved copper treated electrically is deposited on plaster casts, and produces work that is better than that made by casting the molten metal in moulds, because it requires no trimming or finishing with edge-tools.—Builder and Contractor, Washington, D. C.

It is claimed that the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury Department has now in hand about 80 structures, the aggregate cost of which will reach $21,000,000, and that the office is two years behind in its work. In view of this condition of affairs, a conference was recently held with Supervising Architect Freret by representatives of the American Institute of Architects and of the Western Association of Architects, who favor opening government building work to general competition. Mr. Freret would not indorse their suggestions but stated that he had prepared a bill, which is now before Congress for the applying of from 2½ to 5 per cent of all appropriations for new buildings, to cover salaries of superintendents or foremen, the testing of materials, traveling expenses, etc., which, if passed, will enable the supervising architect to appoint professional assistants. This is a progressive step if—and the if is a big one in this instance—the appointments are made irrespective of the political affiliations of the individual members of the profession.—The N. Y. Real Estate Bulletin.

Architects' Notes.

Moses & King have had their plans accepted for two school houses to be erected in Camden, N. J.

Thomas P. Lonsdale, 429 Walnut street, has finished the plans and specifications for an eight story iron store building for the Rev. H. S. Hoffman, which will be located at 1306 Filbert street. The building will contain elevators, fire escapes, and all the necessary adjuncts to a first class building. Contractors are now estimating.

George T. Pearson, 427 Walnut street, has considerable work on hand, part of which is under way. We merely mention the following: A stone house for Mrs. Blanchard and one for Mrs. McCormack, both built in New England style; an Inn at Bluefield, Va. This building is 75x100 feet of frame, three stories high and will contain about forty rooms. The contracts amounting to $17,000 are let to a Virginia builder. Mr. Batton is building at Cheltenham avenue and Wayne street a stone, brick and shingle house 35x45 feet. The Home of the Merciful Saviour for crippled children, under the auspices of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will erect a new building of stone 40x40 feet, with a slate roof. A connection will be made with the present by means of a cloister. The cost will amount to about $10,000. E. E. Denniston will build a house on School lane which is intended to be the most unique of any on that street. The construction will be of stone for the first story, the balance a gambrel style roof. Brick interiors and a tower will be features. Alterations and additions will also be made to the house at the corner of Trinity place and Twenty-second street. Robert Frazer will build a cottage at Jamestown, R. I., 30 feet square of simple colonial architecture. Mr. Foulke will erect on Tulpehocken, near Wayne street, Germantown, a stone house 65x80 feet with a spanish tile roof. A Duplex cottage will be built at Haverford College, stone will be used in the construction, together with very steep German style roof. C. E. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

MECHANIC'S LIENS.—The testimony on a scire facias sur mechanic's lien was conflicting as to whether the work had been completed within six months of the filing of the lien. The court in its charge referring to this question said: "There is really no dispute upon that point, that is, there is no testimony to disputepute it." Held, that this was error, that there was clearly a question of fact which was solely for the jury's consideration; and assuch it should have been submitted to the jury, in such a way that they could not fail to regard it as a question upon which it was their duty to pass, and not as a fact about which there was no dispute. Galland v. Schroeder, March 5, 1888.

MORTGAGE.—A trustee who takes from a co-trustee who is insolvent, a mortgage to secure money of the trust estate, which the co-trustee hasused for his own purposes, and fails to see that the mortgage is properly recorded, is liable to the estate for the loss occasioned by his negligence.

In such a case where the property was sold on a subsequent mortgage properly recorded, for the amount of said mortgage, which, amount was the full market value of the property, the trustee was properly surcharged with this amount as the loss sustained by the trust estate. Hatch's Appeal, Feb. 20, 1888.

CO-OWNERS OF PROPERTY.—Two persons owned in equal shares a lot of tobacco which was to be sold and the proceeds divided between them. Before the sale occurred the tobacco was destroyed by fire and one of the owners collected from an Insurance Company the whole price of the tobacco upon a policy covering his personal property, the premium upon which had been paid by himself. Held, that the co-owner was entitled to recover from such other owner his proportionate share of the amount paid for the tobacco, less his share of the expense of the insurance. Humes v. Dottermus, March 19, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 11 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 South Third street.

BUILDING lots in Alexandria, Va., seem to possess very little money value. A plot of 86000 feet having been sold recently for about seven-eighths of a cent per foot.

ATMOSPHERIC influence upon bricks, tiles and other building materials obtained by the burning of plastic clays depends very much on the chemical composition of the clays and on the degree of burning. Thus any distinct portions of limestone present in them would be converted into quicklime in the kiln, and when the bricks were thoroughly wetted would expand in such a manner as to disintegrate the mass. If the clay used is too poor—that is to say, if it contains an excess of sand—the bricks will not become sufficiently fused, and upon exposure to the weather their constituent parts will separate. It is to be observed that in bricks, as in stones, decomposition does not take place with the greatest rapidity where constant moisture exists, but rather where, from the absence of capillarity, variable according to the moisture furnished by the atmosphere, either directly or indirectly, a series of alterations of dryness and humidity prevail.

The foundation walls of buildings do not in fact suffer so much in the parts immediately upon the ground as they do in those at a height of one to three feet, according to the permeability of the materials employed. When bricks made of clay containing free silica are laid in mortar and moisture can press freely from either one or the other, it may be observed that the edges in contact become harder than the body of the bricks. No doubt this arises from the formation of a silicate of lime and alumina, the lime being furnished by the passage of the water through the bed of the mortar.—(G. R. Burnell, in the Architect, (London.)

The corner stone of the new Episcopal Church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, located near the Wissahickon Inn, was laid on the 12th inst. This building, of which a full account was given in a recent issue, was designed by G. W. & W. D. Hewitt, of this city. Ground was broken on the first of May. The ground and building are the gifts of H. H. Huston, of Chestnut Hill.

A REPORT was made on Thursday by the sub committee on Law of Councils relating to the erection of the buildings on Forty-sixth street, near Saybrook, by W. S. P. Shields. The report was that the law had been unintentionally violated, the builder acting under the instructions of the building inspectors. It was recommended that Mr. Shields be allowed to continue the operation and alter the work so as to bring the houses within the provisions of the law, and it was decided to recommend the repeal of so much of the ordinance of April 11th 1863, as relates to the case, that is if battlement walls be placed between every two houses. On consideration of the facts, it is hardly just to place the blame on the inspectors, as there is a conflict of opinion relating to the law of the case and more over another fact to be remembered is, that three inspectors are obliged to keep a watch on some six thousand building operations every year, beside numerous complaints of a various character, making it impossible to give the necessary attention to each individual operation.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1888

IN VIEW of the recent disturbances in the Seventh School District, there is little if any encouragement for women to devote the best years of their lives to a profession in which experience counts for worse than nothing.

The well worn and favorite argument that she cannot be depended upon, but uses the profession as a make-shift until marriage releases her, thereby damaging her prospects as a future successful educator, may now be resuscitated, as she has no choice in the matter, but must, in self-defence, embrace the first opportunity to obtain a support for that time of life when she is no longer young.

Of course Arthur, Garfield, Cleveland, Jno. G. Carlisle, Blaine, Ingalls, Senators Hawley, Mitchell, Camden, Kenna, Secretary Lamar, Postmaster-General Vilas, and many others known to fame, made teaching a stepping-stone to something else, but that is a horse of a different color. The fact that a teacher may have relatives or children on whom to depend is the flimsiest kind of reasoning, not worth consideration, and would not, in any case where a man and his business relations are concerned, have any weight. On a par with this is the notion that because a woman is unmarried, she should not receive the same salary as a man for the same work, and it is a fact that another woman's salary was reduced because the man for whom she labored discovered that she was saving a small sum weekly for a rainy day.

In refreshing contrast to this, is the case of a teacher in another city who, a few days since, received not only the congratulations of her friends and former pupils, but pecuniary considerations beside, on the completion of a quarter of a century as a teacher.

In Philadelphia, however, nous avons change tout cela, the cry is for young blood, experience is shown the nearest door, and the quickest way out.

 to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the

"Gilbertson's Old Method" Roofing Tin.

Every Sheet Stamped with Brand and Thickness.

Every Box Guaranteed and Marked with Actual Weight.

Imperfect or Waster Sheets arise in the manufacture of all Roofing Plates; but no imperfect or waster sheets can be had of the "Gilbertson's Old Method" brand, for the reason that they are not imported; hence, but one kind can be had, and that the best.

There is no case on record where the "Gilbertson's Old Method" has failed to be chosen over all other brands of roofing plates, where QUALITY, and NOT PRICE was the consideration. We challenge contradiction of this statement.

Reasons why the "Gilbertson's Old Method" plates are selected by the Government for the roof of the White House at Washington. We quote from the specifications as follows:

"The Government desires to secure the BEST QUALITY OF DIPPED ROOFING PLATES, and samples showing imperfections in size or weight will be rejected." "Comparative tests will be made for weight, ductility, uniformity of plates and thickness and quality of coating, ALL of which, as well as the prices, will be considered in making the awards." "The United States desires ONLY THE BEST CLASS OF MATERIALS, and parties who imagine that any other class will be received are respectfully requested not to bid."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JUNE 25, 1888

A FLANNEL shirt and a pair of yellow shoes will be the nearest many of our fellow citizens will come to having a summer excursion, and still these are many more who cannot afford even these small summer luxuries.

It seems that under the Bullitt bill the head of our city government can entertain presidential aspirations and delegate a salaried officer to do the wire pulling at the nominating convention in Chicago while a poor devil of a policeman must perforce resign, because of rheumatism in the legs and the economical sentiments of the administration require it.

From special information received, Philadelphia is to have another new theatre. The location has not yet been decided upon but property there has been viewed for that purpose, in the neighborhood of Broad and Fairmount avenue. Warren Knight, on Green above Seventh st. is the moneyed man and Mr. Al Brotherton has been selected as manager. Neither of the above men could be interviewed as one was out of the city and the other sick. Our authority comes direct and is believed to be correct.

Two very important branches of trade have presented petitions to Councils praying for an ordinance compelling builders to cover the floors of buildings in process of erection. Such a petition as this should receive prompt attention from that body, the necessity of which can not be urged to strongly as the constant deaths occurring from workmen either falling through the open joice or the other equally fatal consequence of heavy material descending upon the poor unfortunate who mischance has placed in the position of being a subject for either the Coroner or the Medical Ambulance. To be sure the measure proposed may be somewhat embarrassing to builders, at first, but the extra cost can be included in the estimate, the great difficulty however will be to overcome the damage that will be occasioned by heavy rains which will be by no means inconsiderable. We earnestly favor the protection asked for because we have never yet seen a building that we considered worth a single human life.

THE builder like the harvest hand has the advantage of cool breezes. Without them neither could stand the scorching rays of the sun. So long as the stimulating influence of cool air more than equals the depressing influence of sun heat, the healthy worker is safe if he uses ice water sparingly and whisky not at all.

THE Traction Company's conduit has become a perfect nuisance generally, in some sections the highly flavored odor it emits is stronger than at other points, but it is sufficiently pungent to call forth considerable complaint along the whole route. The fact is the conduit is nothing more nor less than an open sewer filled with reeking filth, no effort is made to clean it. The Company's purpose was served when it obtained its franchise, but it is indictable for maintaining a nuisance nevertheless. The Traction is a fair sample of corporation indifference to the health and comfort of those whose representatives vote away privileges that should be made to yield the city a handsome revenue. What guarantee does the Wharton Barker Syndicate offer against even a worse abuse of the enormous franchise it seeks to obtain from Councils? It's a question of cold dollars and cents with the Reading gang and they care very little who is ruined so long as their pet scheme goes through, Vanderbilt had to dig for an entrance to his Grand Depot, then why not the Reading?

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of Building permits reported on our issue of June 18th, was 100 representing 244 various improvements. The transfers of property numbered 298, amounting $1,517,678.90, of which $1,208,545.56 was the cash consideration, and $309,133.34 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $7,507 is to be added for ground rents; which on a six per cent basis amounts to $125,116.66. The sales at public auction aggregated $66,105, with an incumbrance of $6,390.

THE RAILROAD RECORD claims that there are 1,500,000 men engaged in various capacities on the railroads of the U. S. The N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania R. R. Cos. employ twenty persons to each mile of track. The New England States have 6,000 miles of track and employ about 60,000 persons. Connecticut and New England each having more than the average of the New England roads, New York with its 75,000 miles of track employs about 120,000 persons, New Jersey with 2,000 miles of track employs 30,000 men, Ohio with 9,300 miles employs 90,000 hands, and Indiana, miles not given, employs over 60,000. The Southern States with 14,000 miles of road employ a less number of men than any other great section unless it is the far Western Pacific.

A PROFITABLE market has been found for the poor, despised American red oak, that has been considered of no value at all. American dealers are buying up all they can get hold of and shipping it to Liverpool. There the lumber is manufactured into fancy furniture and shipped back to New York, where it is sold to wealthy people as the real English oak, and at pretty stiff prices too.—Lambertville Record.

Ocean Measurements.

Dr. John Murray of the Challenger, contributes to the Scottish Geographical Magazine for January an instructive paper "On the Height of the Land and Depth of the Ocean." After a careful comparison of the most recent surveys, he concludes that the mean height of the land is 2,250 feet, or more than twice the height given by Humboldt in the beginning of the century. The latter's error probably consisted mainly in underestimating the height and extend of the Central-Asian plateau, of which nearly a million square miles are at an elevation of over 12,000 feet, 7,800 miles being above 24,000 feet. The mean depth of the sea, on the other hand, is 12,480 feet, the deepest seas as well as the highest land being in the northern hemisphere. It is a curious fact that while 90 per cent of the land is lower than 6,000 feet, only 17 per cent of the sea is shallower than this, so that if the surface of the whole solid land should "be reduced to one level under the ocean, then the surface of the earth would be covered by an ocean with a uniform depth of about two miles." An excellent map accompanies the paper, which is followed by a discussion of the vexed question as to the course of the African river, Welle, the writer, advocating the theory that it is the upper waters of the Itimbiri, a branch of the Congo.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE NEW CROWN OIL STOVE.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves. It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

A Little Book, but a Valuable One.

A little work of great practical value has been sent to us for perusal by Messrs. Merchant & Co. of this city. In a concise, matter of fact way, it opens up the question of roofing plates and thoroughly digests the subject matter, from the process of manufacture to the less interesting, although none the less important subject, of roof painting. The book also deals with the laying of a roof, the soldering of the plates, and it even designates the proper flux to be used to make a roof what every roof should be; viz., the best as to material, the best as to workmanship, the best as to durability, and creditable to everyone having anything to do with it from the humble English girl who dips the plate, to the opulent owner who foots the bill. It also touches upon the scientific, and gives a valuable expansion table for steel, iron, copper, lead and zinc. It tells just how many square feet a box of roofing tin will cover, and every reader will appreciate the fact that it was written by a man who must have mastered the mechanical as well as the scientific art of how to make the best roof possible out of tin plates. The book can be obtained free of charge from Merchant & Co., 517 Arch street, Philadelphia.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CELLULOSE.

Alexander Parkes, an Englishman, invented this remarkable substance in 1855, and made a fine display of it at the Paris Exposition in 1867. American patents of 1870 and 1874 are substantially identical with those in use in England. In France there is only one factory, and there is none elsewhere on the continent, one in Hanover having been given up on account of the explosive nature of the stuff. In this country pure cellulose is commonly obtained from paper makers in the form of tissue paper, in wide rolls; this, after being nitrated by a bath of mixed nitrate and sulphuric acids is thoroughly washed and partially dried. Camphor is then added, and the whole is ground together and thoroughly mixed. At this stage coloring matter may be put in. A little alcohol increases the plasticity of the mass, which is then treated for sometime to powerful hydraulic pressure. Then comes breaking up the cakes and feeding the fragments between heated rolls, by which the amalgamation of the whole is completed. Its perfect plasticity allows it to be rolled into sheets, drawn into tubes, or molded into any desired shape.

Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JULY 2, 1888

THE Traction Company will soon need a grave-yard of its own as a necessary acquisition to its present plant. The Reading used to carry off the honors for man-killing, but it must now submit to second place.

WHAT has become of the city ordinance prohibiting the setting off of fire works in the city of Philadelphia? It's a funny law that extends to the members of political clubs unrestricted license in the use of fire works while the small boy must suffer for setting off a single cracker. We don't object to political glorification, Mr. Mayor, but we want the small boy to have an equal chance and his full share of the fun.

FIVE hundred and fifty thousand dollars represents a great deal of the peoples hard earned cash, to expend in experiments. What effect the removal of Petty's, Smith's and Wind Mill Islands will have upon the river, channel and harbor of Philadelphia, outside of getting clear of a large amount of the surplus, no fellow can find out until after the work has been done, the bill however, appropriating this enormous sum having passed the Senate is now likely to become a law unless the President stops it with his veto. If the Islands are removed it is more than probable that one of two results will follow; viz., large and constantly increasing sand bars will form in their place or the channel will deepen and the washed soil from the up river lands will form flats on each side of the river. In the latter case it will take a few millions to extend the city wharves and fill in the flats in order to reach deep water, for it is a natural law as positive as the rising and setting of the sun that when land is washed away it accumulates at some other point, and so it must prove in this case, consequently the removal of the Islands may entail insurmountable difficulties for all time to come.

We are at a loss to understand why a journal so thoroughly honest, consistent and practical as the Evening Star, keeps howling at councils, rail-road committee because its majority does not entertain a very high regard for Wharton Barker's Reading Elevated Terminal Scheme. It may be as the Star says, that:

"If the Traction Railroad wanted anything and was compelled to ask the Railroad Committee's aid, the men who constitute the majority of that committee would crawl on their hands and knees to grant it, and would be tumbling over each other to see who would get there first."

Yet "two wrongs never made a single right," and the citizens of this good city may thank their stars that the Reading gang has at least failed in getting the same grip upon the committee that the Star claims the traction people now hold. We do not know of a more plain spoken, out and out fighting journal in the people's interest than the Star, and why it endorses the attempt of a lot of financial speculators in their efforts to secure a franchise worth millions of dollars yearly, and that too, to the serious injury of numerous and helpless property owners right in the very heart of the city, under the plea of rapid transit, is a perfect enigma to us. Surely, the day of miracles has not come again?

AS CHILDREN rise to recite their lessons at school, so also do at least fifty per cent of the witnesses who appear in cases tried in our criminal courts. Take the stand, and in a most deliberate, cool and collected way recite their well learned stories which are accepted as evidence given under the sacred obligation of an oath in the interest of defendants and also too frequently the case, against them. Perjury pure and simple without even the possibility of mistake on the part of witnesses is listened to by judges and jury with as much complaisance as if perjury, was not a crime and it were useless to attempt to prevent it. A police officer was recently tried for assault and battery. His evidence was such a mass of deliberate perjury that he should have been committed then and there, instead of which he was permitted to resume his duties at clubbing the next innocent he met.

A PENALTY on unpaid city taxes, according to law, begins on July 1st. The penalties are as follows:

After June 30th, half of one per cent.

After August 1st, one per cent.

After September 1st, one and a half per cent.

After October 1st, two per cent.

After November 1st, three per cent.

After December 1st, four per cent.

A penalty of five per cent is chargeable on State tax after July 31st.

Natural Gas.

The total mileage of pipes in the United States cannot be far from 2,500 miles, not including small pipes for individual use. One-fifth of this quantity of pipe is laid in the city of Pittsburgh. The gas wells of Pennsylvania produce from 1,500,000 to 15,000,000 cubic feet a day. High and low pressure wells are also found in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and as far west as Kansas. The total consumption of gas for 1887, estimated by coal displacement, was equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of coal.

The value of this coal was calculated at about $15,500,000. In 1886 the displacement was placed at 6,500,000 tons, nearly all of which occurred in Pennsylvania about Pittsburgh. If the same ratio of increase in displacement could be given in 1887 as that of 1886 over 1885, the amount of coal displaced by natural gas in 1887 should be placed at 13,000,000 tons instead of 10,000,000 ton; as above, which is a reasonable estimate, as no official or authentic figures are at hand.—Mining Review.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of June 25th, was 106 representing 216 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 256, aggregating $1,711,233.29, of which $1,371,099.62 was the cash consideration and $339,133 the mortgage consideration, a further charge of $4301 is to be added for ground rents, which on a six per cent basis amounts to $71,683.33. The real estate at auction aggregated $64,085, with an incumbrance of $19,475.50.

Council Proceedings.

At a special meeting of Councils held on Thursday last these ordinances were passed: To authorize and direct the Department of Public Safety to remove the market sheds on Spring Garden street after December 1, 1889, and before January 1, 1890; to repeal so much of a supplement to an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to prohibit the erection of wooden buildings approved April 11, 1867," so far as it relates to twenty buildings now erected on Forty-sixth street near Saybrook street, Twenty-seventh Ward.

The Committee on Law who had the ordinance under consideration reported that the ordinance of 1867 prohibited the erection of wooden buildings on the grounds now occupied by them. Subsequently in 1870 an ordinance of the same character, but excluding the part of the city where the buildings are now standing, was passed, and thinking that the latter repealed the former the Building Inspector granted permits for the buildings. The Law Committee says the ordinance of 1860 is in force, but deprecates any action making the owners remove them after permits have been granted.

To select as public parks and place on the city plan Stanton Park in the Twenty-second Ward; Weccacoe Park, Third Ward; Bartram's Garden, Twenty-seventh Ward; Northwood Park, Twenty-third Ward, and Juniata Park, Twenty-fifth Ward. To lay a large number of main sewers in all sections of the city.

The committee reported that to lay all the sewers asked for would require an expenditure of $2,300,000 and consequently only the most important could be recommended.

To appropriate $14,000 for the curbing and paving of Passyunk avenue from Twenty-fifth street to the Schuylkill River; to appropriate money for and approve the contracts for new school houses in the First, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth wards.

To permit the laying of water pipe by the Holmesburg Water Company and the Disston Water Company, in the Twenty-third Ward. The city demands $5000 security and reserves the right to erect as many fire plugs as may be necessary, the company to furnish the water free of charge and erect hydrants.

Common Council bill directing the Directors of Public Works to prepare plans and specifications for the erection of a bridge over the Schuylkill at Walnut street was passed. A bill to curb Passyunk avenue from Twenty-fifth to the River Schuylkill was also passed, and the Surplus bill from Common Council was passed without a dissenting vote.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.
Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ASSIGNMENT OF CERTIFICATE STOCK.—An assignment in good faith and for a valuable consideration, by an endorsement on a certificate of the stock of a corporation, followed by notice to the Secretary and Directors of the corporation, but without the production of the certificate, confers title upon the assignee as against a subsequent attaching creditor of the assignor. Turnpike Co. v. Gerhab, Mar. 19, 1888.

BILLS AND NOTES.—An accommodation note is good as against the maker in the hands of a third person, although it passed to the latter as security for a pre-existing debt, provided, however, that there was no fraud in the procurement of the note. Even where such a note is procured in bad faith, and is passed to a third person for a valuable consideration, the latter may recover from the maker the amount he has actually paid or credited the payee on the faith of the paper. Beckhaus v. Bank, Jan. 23, 1888.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—Where a husband, in accordance with the terms of a deed of separation, executed under seal, and as a compromise of family difficulties, conveyed and assigned to his wife a portion of his estate, and subsequently died insolvent, leaving debts contracted after the separation, his legal representatives have no right to claim that the property conveyed shall be reassigned to them, in order to pay his debts and funeral expenses. Agnew v. Frost, Jan. 23, 1888.

JUDICIAL SALES.—Where a bidder at a judicial sale under execution ceased bidding when he reached the limit imposed by his principal, and the attorney for the plaintiff in the execution agreed to let such bidder have the property at a certain sum over what the attorney would have to bid to get it, and thereupon the attorney bid a little higher, and the property was knocked down to him, and he let the first bidder's principal have it as agreed. Held that, as it appeared from the evidence there was no fraud in the transaction, and that it did not and was not intended to prevent others from bidding, it did not render the sale unfair or void as against the defendant in the execution. Bartolet v. Saylor, March 5, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—A sub-tenant's goods found on the premises are liable to be distrained for rent due by the tenant, in the absence of a contract with the landlord to the contrary. It is immaterial that the tenant had on the premises sufficient goods to satisfy the landlord's demand.

A covenant in the lease that any time during the term the tenant may purchase the premises, "at a price agreed upon by said lessor and lessee," is not binding upon either party as a contract of sale. Smoyer v. Roth, Mar. 19, 1888.

MORTGAGE.—Since the Act of June 8, 1881 (P. L. 84), the only way by which a deed absolute can be reduced to a mortgage is by a defeasance in writing of the same date as that of the deed, "signed, sealed, acknowledged and delivered by the grantee to the grantor," and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds, in the county where the land is situated, within sixty days from the execution thereof. The Act of 1881 is not merely a recording act whose operation should be confined to purchasers and mortgagees, but it affects the immediate parties to the transaction. Sankey v. Hawley, Mar. 19, 1888.

INSURANCE.—The entry of a judgment, even without the actual knowledge of the defendant therein, is, unless the terms of the condition are fulfilled, a breach of the condition in a policy of fire insurance upon such judgment defendant's real estate, "that if the property insured shall be encumbered at or after the date of policy, by mortgage, judgment, etc., and the assured shall neglect or fail to give written notice thereof and pay such additional premium as the company shall determine," etc., the policy shall be void. Ins. Co. v. Schmidt, April 2, 1888.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.—Bills filed with a mechanic's claim are not admissible in evidence in support of plaintiff's claim, unless their correctness is not denied by the affidavit of defence.

Where materials have been furnished for building, under a contract with the holder of the equitable title to the land, the mechanic's lien for the materials attaches to the equitable interest in the premises only. Weaver v. Sheeler, Feb. 13, 1888.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.—Where an agreement for the sale of land at a specified price is modified by the execution of a new agreement by the vendor, vendee and a third person, by which the vendor undertakes to make title to the third person as soon as the third person shall, within a specified time, pay the vendor the original price, and shall pay the original vendee a sum in addition thereto, the original vendee has an equitable interest in the land, and on failure of the third person to pay the full original price within the stipulated time, the equitable interest of the original vendee will not be defeated by ejectment proceedings unless he is made a party thereto. McCullough v. Stauer, Mar. 26, 1888.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves. It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

What the "Building" has to say of the book just published, entitled, "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs."

MESSRS. MERCHANT & CO. have just issued the third edition of a little pamphlet entitled "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs." Its purpose is to give facts as to the manufacture and relative values of roofing plates, and about the laying of a good roof. The facts given in this little book are well worth the careful attention of architects and builders, and deserve careful perusal. As it is well known to most of our readers, Messrs. Merchant & Co. have devoted a great deal of thought and care to the improvement of their brands of roofing tins, and have spent during the last five years a large amount of money in advertising these goods and bringing them before the building public. They have shown great energy and perseverance in pushing their business, but to our minds it has been based on grounds of merit, rather than personal favor, evidently accepting the old motto, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JULY 9, 1888.

We have watched with interest the effects of the high license law, and do not hesitate to declare that notwithstanding the short time it has been under trial the most beneficial and salutary results have already followed. From a real estate standpoint it is almost too soon to estimate just what the results will be in the end, but thus far the radical improvement that has taken place in some neighborhoods has caused a demand for properties that had been almost entirely ignored by respectable renters. To be sure many properties that have heretofore commanded big prices for saloon purposes have been thrown upon the market by reason of their occupants having been refused a license. Many of these have found new occupants and many more would find tenants, were the owners disposed to take a lower price than they formerly commanded. Of course, this can be regarded as a loss to the owner, but such a loss is inconsiderable compared with the improvements throughout the city generally. The moral effect is expressed in a hundred ways; arrests for drunkenness have largely decreased, the saloon sinner having been estranged from his cronies by reason of the closing of headquarters has in many instances realized that he has a home, a wife and children, and for the first time in years has been awakened to a realization of his foolishness and how much pleasanter home is than the fetid atmosphere and vile surroundings of the saloon after all, and there is many a wife in this city who has reason to thank God for the new license law, who feels a ray of hope within her soul, and that the man she loves and whom she despaired of for many years can be a man after all. The public square keepers who have heretofore been annoyed by drunken men and chronic bums report a decided improvement in the character of the visitors. There is scarcely an arrest made in squares where from a dozen to twenty was the daily record, and the peremptory order to "move on" is now seldom heard. The saloon keepers as a rule are on their good behavior and the growler is a welcome visitor only in the hands of a full fledged adult. The law has been laid down so plainly by the courts that it is indeed a straight and narrow path for the saloon keepers to walk, and their safety both as to their licenses being continued and their personal liberty lies in a strict compliance with the law. We regard the new law as an experiment even now no longer; already it has proven conclusively that free rum or cheap, poor rum is directly responsible for most of our vagrancy and crime.

THE Art Club competition has at length been decided by the committee unanimously adopting the plans of Frank Miles Day. Fourteen architects were invited to compete, ten of whom accepted. The five selected to compete the second time were Messrs. Cope & Stewardson, Hazlehurst & Huckel, Wilson Eyre & Mr. Day. The names of the competitors insure us that a high class of work was done, which should be all the more gratifying to the successful architect, who is among the younger men of the profession, having only recently begun the practice of his profession. Mr. Day is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, he also studied abroad and was in the office of his preceptor, Mr. George Pearson, for a number of years. It is a suggestion of a timely one, that if more of our professional men would adopt the same course of thoroughly grounding themselves there would be fewer mistakes made and fewer men who are architects only in name. In such an important matter as building a structure and any kind, those who attempt it should be as well versed in their art as a physician or a lawyer, and examinations given which would make the right to construct houses depend upon other things than the possession of a T square and a pair of compasses.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of July 2nd was 65, representing 206 various improvements. The transfer of property numbered 260, amounting to $1,041, 204 of which $876,579 was the cash consideration and $164,625 the mortgage consideration, a further charge of $4,97 is to be added for ground rents which on a basis of six per cent amounts to $31,783.33. The real estate at auction aggregated $613,375 with but two incumbrances of ground rents amounting to $78.

Damp Cellars.

From the Building Trades Journal.

The most prominent causes of damp cellars are:

1. Dampness permeating the walls.
2. Dampness from saturated soil appearing below the walls.
3. Dampness from imperfect plumbing.
4. Moist ground air permeating cellar bottom, forced in by air pressure.

The first is an evidence of either poor workmanship and material or imperfect drainage. Should it be the former, and discovered in time, a compulsory removal of the work is the best remedy. A good wall (stone is here understood) should have every space completely filled. Small flat stones make the best work when carefully bonded and fitted. Look out for walls showing nothing but large flat stone on the outer faces, as such are often but dry concrete in the center. If the work has progressed too far to allow the wall to be taken down, the remedy is a thorough coating of cement on the outside—from grade to footing—backed by a careful drainage of the immediate vicinity. Great care is necessary to keep the surface water from the building on all sides. It will not suffice to keep it five, ten, or twenty feet away, and then allow it to pool, as the ground will absorb it, and if the strata should happen to incline in the direction of the cellar, conduct the moisture to the wall, where although perhaps not appearing in drops on the surface, still keeping the joints damp enough to affect the atmosphere and cause the mortar to decay.

Good, clean, yellow clay, well puddled and rammed around the walls, is an excellent protection, and one that should never be omitted.

Frequently, in neighborhoods thinly settled, where the sewage system is imperfect, or, rather, not completed, the ground becomes waterlogged, or so saturated with moisture as to cause any shallow excavation to collect water, and it will be noticed in such ground that after a rain all these depressions hold the water with great tenacity. In fact, the soil seems unable to absorb any more.

Cellars sunk in such ground will be damp at the foot of the wall, the moisture extending out on the cellar floor, while any small knoll, caused by uneven excavation may be perfectly dry on top, and even, as has occurred in my practice, the clay opening in seams from contraction in drying, while but a few feet away the mud was three to six inches deep. This has been noticed even in a house situated on a small plateau with rapid drainage to all sides.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE shows the operations in the respective Wards for the five weeks ending June 30th of this year, for which permits have been granted. WEEKS ENDING 2d, 9th, 16th, 23d and 30th.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

AGREEMENT TO SELL LAND.—To enable a party to enforce specific performance the agreement must contain the exact terms of the contract and a description of the property.

Where one agreed in writing to sell a "lot on the right hand side of S street going towards the river being twenty feet wide, and running back to Stewart street," and it appeared that the vendor owned sixty-feet on the right hand side of S street, the description was too indefinite to prevent the operation of the Statute of Frauds. Holthaus v. Rynd, Jan. 3d 1888.

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE.—A conveyance by a debtor with the intent to cover up his property from certain particular creditors is a wrong against all his creditors, and can be assailed by any creditor whose debt existed at the time of such conveyance. Where it appeared on the trial of an action of ejectment brought by one claiming under a judicial sale upon a judgment, that the defendant had obtained the property under a mortgage made by the judgment debtor subsequent to the judgement under which plaintiff claimed, with the intent to protect his property from certain of his creditors, other than the judgment creditor, and there was some evidence that the defendant knew of the judgment debtor's intent, Held that there was enough to carry the case to the jury. Barrett v. Nealson, March 5th 1888.

LEASE.—A lease which was to continue "for the term of one year with the privilege of three years from April 1st 1885, at the rent of $204 per annum," Held to be a lease from year to year not exceeding three years, and that the tenant had the right to terminate the lease at the end of the "second year by giving proper notice. Gillion v. Fireley, March 19th 1888.

It is the general rule both at Common law and in Pennsylvania that whatever goods are found upon demised premises may be distrained for rent, whether they belong to a tenant, under tenant or stranger.

But where the tenant in the course of his business is necessarily put in possession of the property of those with whom he deals, or those who employ him, such property (although on the demised premises) is not liable to distress for rent due thereon from the tenant. The consignment of a knife grinding machine to a paper box manufacturer on trial, with a view to a sale of the machine if it proved satisfactory, is not such a delivery of the machine in the necessary way of trade or business as will exempt the same from distress for rent under the above exception. Page v. Middleton, Feb. 6th 1888.

MORTGAGE.—A judicial sale of land of a decedent to enforce payment of arrears of ground rent, the lien of which antedated the lien of a mortgage made by the decedent, discharges the lien of such mortgage and the fact that the purchaser of the land at such sale is the husband of an heir of the decedent who is a tenant in common with the other heirs, in the bare legal title to the land, cast upon them by descent, will not create such purchaser a trustee for his wife and remit the land to her and her co-tenant's title z. c. the decedent's title, so as to render the land subject to the said mortgage. Rushton v. Lippincott, Feb. 20th 1888.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.—The defendant held four out of six notes given for the purchase money of real estate, and secured by a deed of trust of the real estate. The owner of the land sold it and three weeks after the sale obtained from the defendant a release of the land from the encumbrance of the trust deed. The release was, in general terms, for all the tract sold, and recited the sale made three weeks before. The plaintiff who was the purchaser, claimed that he did not know that the defendant held only four of the notes. The land was subsequently sold on judgments on the other two notes and the plaintiff was obliged to buy it in for his own protection. In an action on the case for deceit, by the purchaser against the defendant the court charged that if the jury found that the plaintiff was without notice that defendant did not hold all the notes, and was without knowledge of facts to put him upon inquiry, and trusted to the silence of the defendant, then plaintiff was entitled to recover. Held not to be error. Craft v. Phillips, Jan. 3rd 1888.

All above cases can be found in 11 Cent. Rep. F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law, 58 South Third street.

A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JULY 16, 1888.

OUR correspondents complain of a dearth of building news.

Six hundred and fifty new mercantile firms have been established in Kansas City, since January 1st last.

THERE was not a single bid offered by a Philadelphia firm for the furniture for the Court House and Post Office at Erie, Pa., or for the Public Building at Hannibal, Mo.

As might have been expected, the reduction of car fares to five cents was merely a sharp dodge on the part of the street railway magnates to prevent further legislation on a subject of vital interest to every working man in Philadelphia. Had a law been passed, regulating the fare, as it should have been, when the subject was agitated some time since, the matter would have been settled once for all, but those legislators, working in the interest of the Traction Company eagerly pointed out the uselessness of enacting a law controlling the matter, as the company had already reduced the fare to five cents, Cerberus swallowed the sop public sentiment was appeased. The fact is, there is no law defining what car fares on the city railways shall be, the community having been left to the capricious extortion of these companies which are at liberty to charge any price, and the people are helpless to prevent it. As is usually the case in such matters, the burden falls on those least able to bear it. To a transfer rider the extra charge, in case exchange tickets are sold for eight cents, will amount to six cents a day or $18.72 a year. This is no inconsiderable trifle to those who have found cheap homes in the suburbs and who for the sake of living as respectably as their limited earnings allow, are willing to put up with the beastly accommodations and slow transit of the passenger street railways. To this class of people the consciousness of helping to pay for "increased horse feed," offers meagre compensation for the extra expense in travel to and from their daily labor. Impositions of this kind practised upon working men year after year cannot fail to germinate seeds of discontent and rebellion against capitalists and corporations. Councils railroad committee did well in reporting against the Reading Syndicate terminal scheme. If these gentlemen desire such a valuable franchise, let them come into court with a proposition to guarantee indemnity to every property holder injured by the construction of an elevated road, beside which they should be made to strictly define what the fare will be, and if too high they should be refused the franchise until they agree to a fair and equitable proposition by which the public reaps some advantages as well as themselves. The efforts of the managers of the scheme to form public opinion through reading notices, paid for at so much a line is neither honest nor original. Thousands of dollars have been expended for this purpose and the eagerness with which some of our city journals have accepted the sprats thrown to them is disgustingly humiliating from every standpoint the question can be looked at. When we can have rapid transit at the cost of no man's rights or home let it come, until then we can wait.

The Master Builders Exchange.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the Master Builders Exchange, for the extension and additional stories and iron work of the basement extension to the Court House and Post Office &c., at Brooklyn, N. Y., proposals will be received until July 23rd. The committee on the revision of the building laws has adjourned until September. Applications for membership were made by The Hummelstown Brown Stone Company and Leiper & Lewis, quarry men and James Porter, contractor and cellar digger.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of July 9th was 83, representing 222 various improvements. The transfers of property numbered 251, amounting to $1,099,341.47 of which $861,734.47 was the cash consideration and $237,607 the mortgage consideration, a further charge of $23,559 is to be added for ground rents which on a basis of six per cent amounts to $392,650 None of the auction houses held sales.

Cathedral of St. John the Divine in the City of New York.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ARCHITECTS WHO MAY DESIRE TO SUBMIT SKETCHES.

The Trustees of the Cathedral desire to obtain so much as will indicate the architect's general conception and mode of treatment, believing that from these sketches it will be possible to determine whether the ideas shown will warrant a more elaborate and careful development of the one or more of the sketches submitted.

The word "sketches" is used in contradistinction to an elaborate plan, but in order that all designs shall be fairly considered the following rules are given:

1. There shall be a ground plan in black and white, on the scale of one-sixteenth of an inch to one foot.
2. There shall be a front and side elevation and a longitudinal section, drawn without shading in pen and ink on above scale.
3. A perspective drawn with vanishing points eighty-four inches apart, the nearest corner of the building, which is to be the southeast corner, being thirty-six inches from the left-hand vanishing point, and forty-eight inches from the right-hand vanishing point. The building to be set at forty-five degrees with the plane of the picture. This perspective to be in pen and ink without painting or shading other than black lining.

The drawings submitted are not to be framed or glazed, but are to be delivered flat in a sealed portfolio, expressage paid, on or before December 15, 1888, directed to the Trustees of the Cathedral, See House, 29 Lafayette place, New York City.

The trustees do not bind themselves to cause any of the designs submitted to be further elaborated. The designs will not be publicly exhibited or shown to other competitors unless the consent of their authors shall first be obtained in writing.

The trustees will hold no direct or indirect conference with any competitor, but all information desired will be asked for in writing.

All plans not accepted for the second competition will be returned to their owners.

With this circular is enclosed a map of the land selected for the Cathedral, and a profile drawn on its easterly side.

It is the desire of the trustees that the Cathedral should stand facing south, and that its length should not exceed 400 feet.

The building must be strictly fire-proof; no inflammable materials must be used. The exterior to be of marble, granite or other durable stone, but no sandstone or porous material to be used, either in ornamentation or construction, that is exposed to the weather.

Note.—We are instructed to state that several architects have been selected from whom plans are desired and who have been requested to submit them. It is thought best to state, lest there should be any misunderstanding of this matter, that these gentlemen alone are invited to furnish plans. However, anyone may send plans without expectation of compensation, and their plans will be considered, and if adopted, of course compensation will be made.

—Building.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE NEW CROWN OIL STOVE.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves. It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

What the "Building" has to say of the book just published, entitled, "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs."

MESSRS. MERCHANT & CO. have just issued the third edition of a little pamphlet entitled "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs." Its purpose is to give facts as to the manufacture and relative values of roofing plates, and about the laying of a good roof. The facts given in this little book are well worth the careful attention of architects and builders, and deserve careful perusal. As it is well known to most of our readers, Messrs. Merchant & Co. have devoted a great deal of thought and care to the improvement of their brands of roofing tins, and have spent during the last five years a large amount of money in advertising these goods and bringing them before the building public. They have shown great energy and perseverance in pushing their business, but to our minds it has been based on grounds of merit, rather than personal favor, evidently accepting the old motto, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead."

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.—Expenditure of a reasonable sum by assignees for the benefit of creditors, in keeping buildings belonging to the assigned estate in repair for tenants, is allowable.

Assignee under a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors are not legally required to let the assigned real estate, or to collect the rents therefrom; and if they do so for the benefit of the estate, they are entitled to the allowance of a reasonable sum paid by them to one employed to collect such rents. Rents collected from Real estate assigned for the benefit of creditors should be applied on liens upon such real estate, in preference to distribution among the general creditors. Dunlap's Appeal, May 14, 1888.

When a mortgage is entered of record simultaneously with judgments against the mortgagor, the lien of the mortgage is not anterior to the liens of the judgments; and such mortgage is not prior to all other liens upon the property except other mortgages, ground rents and purchase money due the commonwealth, and there for the lien of such mortgage is defeated by the sale of the land covered thereby, under the Act of Feb. 16, 1876, in reference to the sale of assigned incumbered real estate.

A mortgage executed by the owner of land, to a trustee to secure a bond in a certain sum, conditioned for the payment of a specified annuity to the mortgagors wife during her life, is not an exception to the above rule in reference to the devestiture of the lien. Richey's Appeal, May 14, 1888.

CURTSEY.—A deed of land to a daughter "and to her heirs and assigns exclusively of her said husband" does not deprive the husband of his right as tenant by the Curtesy.—Rank v. Rat k. April 30, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 11 Cent. Rep. F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law, 58 South Third street.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JULY 23, 1888.

THE fire losses in the United States for the year 1888 is already estimated at over one hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

By the aid of electric lights work on Marks Brothers new building at the Northwest Corner of Eighth and Arch streets is continued throughout the night.

NUMBER 13 of the Builder's Bulletin, of Washington, D. C., is handed to us through the mails containing a very complimentary notice of this journal, we are sure that we share in the good wishes of our useful and brilliant contemporary and we know that Editor J. C. Wight, of the Bulletin is fully capable of presenting a weekly Bulletin of building news that must yield much pleasure and great profit to its many readers, we say to all send for a sample copy, and then subscribe.

It is surprising as well as painful to everyone interested in the educational affairs of Philadelphia, to see how difficult it is for the committee to find a suitable man for President of the High School. For years the High School has been graduating boys of spirit and intelligence, and the question is, what has become of them? Some of them are well known by reputation and known to be of the stuff of which capable men are made. All of them cannot have left Philadelphia, and if not, why not give them a chance? It does not speak well for our system of education that in all these years we have not been able to produce a man capable of filling the position of President of the High School.

BERLIN, Germany, has adopted a very severe building law which notwithstanding the hardship it entails upon builders contains some very sensible provisions. Only two-thirds of the ground can be occupied by a building, its height must not be greater than the width of the street on which it is located. Three separate and perfect plans together with minute specifications must be delivered to the Government Building Commissioners who must examine them and accept or reject them, or indicate what changes must be made. Stairs throughout the entire structure whether intended for domestic or business purposes must be either of stone or iron. During the erection of the building Government officers are required to inspect the work from time to time and compare it with the plans and specifications that have been accepted by the Commission and every thing must conform to them. The building when completed cannot be occupied as a residence for six months after its completion, the Health officer then measures the rooms and designates how many persons will be allowed to sleep in each, a certain number of cubic feet of air being allowed to each person. Rooms not provided with sufficient ventilation cannot be used for sleeping rooms under a severe penalty, a severe punishment is inflicted upon the owner for the slightest violation of these laws.
